

Crude oil Spanish imports by country

October 2013

Russia was the top crude oil supplier to Spain in October 2013 23.5%

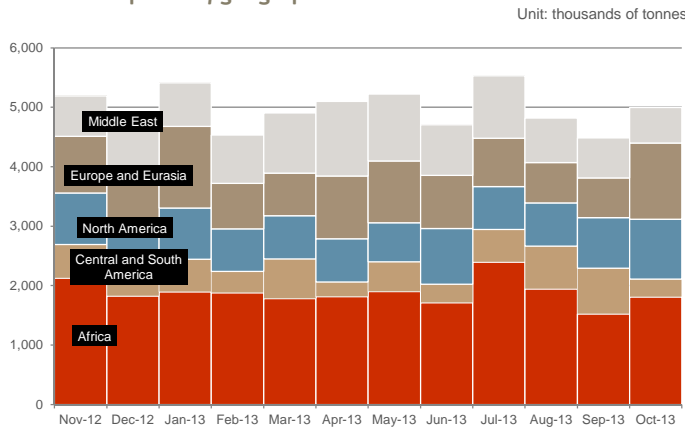

For the third month in a row, Spain's crude oil imports dropped in October (-5.4% compared to October 2012), totalling 4,996 kt. Meanwhile, in the last 12 months overall they have increased by 3.2%. 22 types of crude oil from 13 countries were imported.

In October, Russia was the top supplier (23.5% of the total) while in the last 12 months Mexico has continued to be the foremost crude oil supplier country (15.9%), followed by Russia, Saudi Arabia and Nigeria. These four countries represent 56.4% of total imports in this period.

Imports from OPEC countries decreased, during the month and overall. In October, the lack of imports from Venezuela and Iraq was notable, as was the decrease in imports from Libya. Only Algerian and Angolan imports increased significantly.

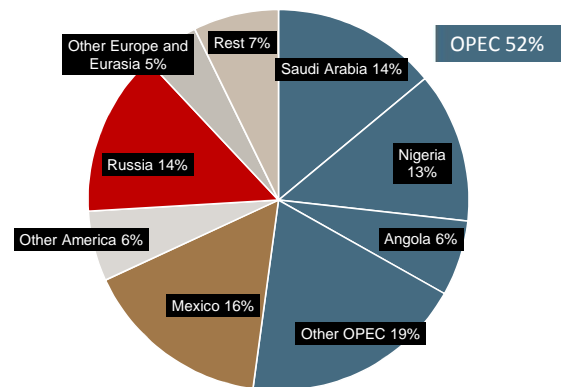

By geographical area, Africa continued to be the main supply region in the past 12 months (37.8% of the total), while the weight of imports from the Middle East declined (17.6%).
